Capital And Labor Equally Represented In Italy

PARLIAMENT HOLDS FIRST MEET TODAY

Precedent in World History Established When 22 Corporations Parley

MUSSOLINI SPEAKS

Il Duce Declares Meeting Today Most Important in History of Italy

ROME, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Italy's new parliament, a precedent in world history, in which capital and labor will be represented equally and the divisions of economic life will be substituted for the factions of party politics, was born today.

In the hall of Julius Caesar, on ancient Capitoline Hill, Premier Benito Mussolini, members of this cabinet and 823 delegates of the 22 corporations of the new Fascist state, held their first meeting.

They comprised the Council of Corporations, the new economic parliament, which will govern Italy as did the parliament it is to supplant.

It was believed to be the first time that representatives of capital and labor, equal in power, had sat in authoritative deliberative assembly to direct the legislative affairs of a nation.

As Mussolini led the world in post-war dictatorships that have spread through Europe, he led the world today with the Fascist conception of the 20th century evolution of government that has progressed from tribal councils through the Greek republics, the kingdoms and empires and parliaments and congresses to a body worked out rationally to represent citizens according to their station and their work.

Mussolini, conscious of the culmination of eight years of study of a system of government he wanted to be truly representative according to Fascist ideals, said in his speech opening the parliament:

"This is the most imposing event in the history of Italy. Indeed it is unprecedented in any history."

"The Fascist corporation begins its active existence from today. It is one destined to operate in every single sector of the national life to examine all problems of general character—namely, political problems. This assembly will substitute for other institutions (the parliament) which belong to a phase of history already relegated to the past."

"The Fascist revolution will maintain this principle, inaugurated here, of the equality of all individuals before the state, and will add another one: the equality of all individuals regarding work as a social duty."

Discussing the ideals, he said: "The century cannot admit the inevitability of poverty. Extensive famine, artificially produced, cannot be tolerated."

"Italy will guarantee the work of its people."

HUNTINGTON BEACH HOST TO COUNTY ON ARMISTICE DAY

400 SQUATTERS IN CUBA DEFY FEDERAL EDICT

Pledge to Defend Homes and Families Entrenched in Mountain Passes

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)
LA LIMA, Cuba, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Four hundred squatters, pledged to defend to the death the homes their families have occupied for 20 years, were entrenched in mountain passes today awaiting the attack of infantry and machine gunners.

Lieut. Pablo Figueroa, commanding the soldiers, sent an ultimatum to the squatter army announcing that he would attack unless its arms were surrendered.

Orders had come from the government at Havana to eject from their little plantations the 600 families who live on land claimed by a sugar company.

An "army" of 200 infantrymen, with bombs and five machine guns, was based at La Lima and Lallua. About the surrounding area rode "Paul Revere," rousing the countrymen to defend the squatters' homes—listing aid in the form of supplies and reinforcements.

Eulogio Marselli, department of interior representative in the province (Oriente), went to Havana to tell President Carlos Mendieta that the squatters would die before they gave up their land.

The federation of labor of the province called a general strike, to be effective when the squatters were attacked.

More troops were on the way to La Lima from Guantanamo.

The little war has been long approaching. The squatters, insisting that the land is theirs, have confronted with armed resistance all efforts of the claimant sugar company to survey and divide it.

The climax was made certain a month ago when the squatters ejected all company engineers from the area and announced they would fight any soldiers who tried to protect surveys.

PAVING CONTRACTS PROBED BY JURORS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The county grand jury forehanded a general investigation of county and city paving contracts today by issuing subpoenas for bank records of Mayor Frank L. Shaw, the entire board of supervisors, city councilmen, former Mayor John C. Porter and numerous other public officials.

The subpoenas were issued after the grand jury was reported to have discovered that one high city official assertedly had been collecting commissions from one patent paving company. The official was alleged to have received 10 cents a ton on all quantities of a certain unpaved paving material delivered to the city.

Information reportedly reaching the grand jury was that the official made bank deposits in excess of his salary and that his name was carried on company books as "No. 13". An employee of the paving concern was credited as the grand jury's informant.

ROBSON TO ASK HABEAS CORPUS TO FORCE TALK

Man Accused of Kidnaping Robles Girl Claims He Was Kidnaped

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Oscar H. Robson, accused of attempting to extort $15,000 from the father of June Robles, 6, recent kidnap victim, charged today he himself "was kidnaped" by federal agents, when they brought him here from Tucson early this week.

Held incommunicado in the county jail since his arrest, the prisoner finally was permitted to receive his attorneys and newspapermen.

"I knew nothing of the case," the former dude rancher said. "I was taken from my home in Tucson on the pretext we were going to run down a new lead in the case. The federal agents told me we would probably be gone all night. When I learned they were taking me to Phoenix, I protested. I was kidnaped."

"There were six federal men who questioned me. They took turns and kept after me for 24 hours and not allowing me to sleep."

Displaying what appeared to be minor bruises on his head, he claimed they were inflicted by one agent who demanded a confession. Robson still denies the extortion charge.

Joseph E. P. Dunn of Los Angeles, chief department of justice agent, denied the prisoner had been cruelly treated.

"That's an old trick to obtain sympathy," Dunn said.

Robson's attorneys have filed a writ of habeas corpus to force an interview. The writ is returnable in federal court Monday.

Officers said the suspect was spirited from Tucson as a precaution against possible mob violence.

He is accused of writing a ransom note to June's father, Fernando Robles, Tucson merchant, shortly after she was abducted last April. Her release came 19 days later when she was found in a cage-like box, half-buried on the open desert nine miles from Tucson. Robson and the Robles family have long been friends.

ORDER MARTIAL LAW SITE OF PARKER DAM

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 10.—(UP)—The sovereign state of Arizona, jealous of its water rights to the Colorado river, declared martial law at the site of the Parker dam today in an attempt to halt work on the huge project.

Gov. B. B. Moeur issued the proclamation when he was informed that the Six Companies, Inc., which is building the dam for the Metropolitan water district of Southern California, had begun construction of a bridge from the California to the Arizona shore.

Five national guardsmen have been camped on the Arizona side of the river for several months with instructions to arrest any person transgressing on Arizona territory.

JUDGE TO SET DATE OF DOKE TRIAL TUESDAY

Jury Unable to Reach Agreement in Slaying; New Trial Looms

WOODLAND, Cal., Nov. 10.—The "unwritten law" which from almost the dawn of creation has held that a man is justified in killing his wife's paramour, brought the white hibiscus slaying trial to an end today without a verdict.

Judge Neal Chalmers on Tuesday will set the date for a new trial.

The stalemate which resulted in discharge of the jury was due, it was learned, to the insistence of a middle-aged farmer and a housewife that Judson C. Doke should not be punished for slaying Lamar Hollingshead, poet-lover of Doke's pretty wife.

From the first ballot through nine succeeding polls of the jury of eight men and four women, Mrs. Virginia Sanders of Davis, and Frank Fenocchio of Westgate, held out for acquittal, Mrs. Grace Bender, youngest and prettiest of the women jurors, revealed.

"They were very arbitrary," Mrs. Bender said. "They said argument was useless and that they believed in the unwritten law and that they would demand acquittal or nothing."

"I never would have convicted that young man," said Mrs. Sanders. "I told them so and I meant it. They knew it."

John T. Rogers, another jury member, answered for the men that "we just couldn't do anything with the women of the jury."

The four women on the jury had stood steadfast for acquittal from the very first minute of the 30 hours of deliberation. Three of the men joined them. When the jury finally gave up trying to reach an agreement last night it stood seven to five for finding Doke.

"I myself felt Doke was justified," said Mrs. Bender. "But I didn't want him to go entirely free. Most of us felt that way. But we were afraid to vote for any kind of conviction because we didn't want him to go to prison for life. We just felt he should be punished some other way."

Grover C. Grady, foreman of the jury, led the faction of five men who stood as steadfastly for conviction as the four women and Fenocchio had stood for acquittal.

"After all, Doke pulled the trigger, the gun went off, and Hollingshead was killed," Grady said. "Under the judge's instructions that was murder."

Sidney Leathers, young juror who supported Grady's contentions, said he felt that "Doke" is as guilty as hell."

The defense and its supporters regarded the jury disagreement as a victory and as an indication that in a new trial Doke would be freed.

Doke broke into the first smile in his trousers pocket. The bulge proved to be a gun. Taken into custody, Miller was said finally to have signed a confession that he robbed the Bank of America branch at Fillmore and Jackson streets in San Francisco on September 8, and immediately took the little schoolteacher of his choice, now Mrs. Maude Miller, to the minister's, bought a new car and honeymooned here.

Among the crown witnesses will be taxi cab drivers who allegedly drove Vermilyea from Belleville to Toronto and Hamilton, Ont., on the night of the crime, and the pilot of the airplane on which Vermilyea is alleged to have travelled from Chicago to Oakland, Cal., two days after the slaying.

CLAIM CONFESSION IN BANK ROBBERY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Police claimed today to have obtained a written confession from James B. Miller, restaurant worker, that he followed a hold-up avocation at nights, unbeknown to his pretty schoolteacher bride, and even financed their honeymoon from proceeds of a San Francisco bank robbery.

Miller was arrested when sidewalk detectives noticed a bulge in his trousers pocket. The bulge proved to be a gun. Taken into custody, Miller was said finally to have signed a confession that he robbed the Bank of America branch at Fillmore and Jackson streets in San Francisco on September 8, and immediately took the little schoolteacher of his choice, now Mrs. Maude Miller, to the minister's, bought a new car and honeymooned here.

W.C.T.U. OPENS ANNUAL MEET IN CLEVELAND

Convention to Launch Five Year Plan of Education on Alcohol Evils

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The sixtieth anniversary of the founding of the temperance movement was celebrated here today when more than 1200 women of the W. C. T. U. assembled for the first national convention of the organization since repeal of the prohibition amendment.

The convention, lasting five days, will launch a five year plan of education against the evils of alcoholic liquors and narcotics. Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, Evanston, Ill., national president, said.

To prepare themselves for the work of the convention, delegates went to "school" today. Lessons showing that one part of alcohol in 1000 parts of blood produce intoxication and that five parts of alcohol to 1000 parts of blood mean probable death, were taught by Bertha Rachel Palmer, Evanston, director of the department of scientific temperance instruction of the W. C. T. U.

"Alcohol looks like water, but it behaves like fire," Miss Palmer told the delegates. "The chief danger in the moderate use of alcohol is that it tends toward continued or immoderate use."

"The convention proper begins tonight with a grand march and procession by the national officers and state organization presidents. Tomorrow, 50 members of the W. C. T. U. will preach from as many pulpits in the city."

Mrs. Smith, in a pre-convention interview, said the recent action of several states in repealing laws only made the W. C. T. U. "more determined than ever" to continue the crusade against intoxicating liquor.

There are three times as many saloons as there were before prohibition went into effect," she said. "Women and young girls and boys are taking to drink. The liquor traffic must be stamped out."

Earlier, Hopkins said he was willing that congress should initiate an investigation of relief expenditures, provided "Senator Borah will be good enough to furnish me with a bill of particulars regarding what he characterizes as the 'shameful waste in doling out funds,' if so, I promise him quick action."

A FEPA representative will be instructed to interview Sen. Borah, asking him to elaborate on the nature of evidence, if any, at his disposal.

If Sen. Borah reveals any irregularities, Hopkins appeared ready to act immediately to remedy them.

RAMSAY M'DONALD SPEAKS ON ARMS

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(UP)—A declaration by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, that disarmament is practicable only through international agreement, served today to emphasize that 16 years of peace have brought increase, not decrease, in armaments.

The labor premier, deserted now by his own party, told a brilliant gathering at the lord mayor's dinner last night:

"Our experience has proved that in the world's present state of mind, disarmament by example is not an effective way to reduce arms or to increase international confidence and strengthen peace."

"I believe the best and last word in security is international agreement to scale down national armaments, and the lower the scales the greater the security."

STATEMENT IS MISSING

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(UP)—A statement given by Jean Harlow to district attorney's representatives who sought to clear up the mystery surrounding the suicide in 1932 of her husband, Paul Bern, was unsuccessfully sought among grand jury archives today.

If a transcript was made of the glamorous actress' story, none was prepared to say.

"I never saw the transcript myself," said District Attorney Byron Pitts, whose expenditures are under scrutiny of the grand jury. It was a routine examination of Pitts' records by grand jury auditors that once more brought the Bern suicide into the limelight.

Answers Challenge of Senator Borah By Starting Immediate Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins today met the challenge of Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida., ordering a prompt and thorough gathering of any information on alleged "shameful waste in giving out funds."

Hopkins assigned his investigation division to the inquiry, directing that all facts available with regard to Borah's charges be obtained.

Earlier, Hopkins said he was willing that congress should initiate an investigation of relief expenditures, provided "Senator Borah will be good enough to furnish me with a bill of particulars regarding what he characterizes as the 'shameful waste in doling out funds,' if so, I promise him quick action."

MAN IN PRISON 25 YEARS TO BE FREED

MARTINEZ, Cal., Nov. 10.—(UP)—After serving 25 years of a 50-year sentence for murder, James McFarland, 50, a prisoner at Folsom prison, won his way to the threshold of freedom today by proving that so far as court records are concerned he still is a patient at the Stockton hospital for criminal insane.

Through years spent in the library at Folsom prison, poring over musty tomes of legal proceedings, McFarland developed and fought his own case, showing to the satisfaction of Superior Judge Thomas Johnston of Contra Costa county that he had been sentenced illegally.

Only legal technicalities remain to be cleared away before McFarland may walk out of prison a free man. His case is regarded as without precedent in the history of American jurisprudence.

$6.60 of French War Debt Paid By U. S. Citizen

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The French war debt to the United States shortly will be reduced $6.60, treasury officials predicted today.

One Moe Buchsbaum, fined for speeding in France over a month ago, told the judge, "I am an American," and promised to pay only if they would let him put it on the French war debt. And from all reports Moe didn't spare words impressing upon the judge just how he felt about this war debt business.

The judge said he would accept a photostatic copy of a check for 100 francs ($6.60) to the American treasury on the account of France. Buchsbaum agreed and the judge let him go. The treasury says he has kept his promise.

OPEN EVENINGS

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 10. (To the Editor of The Register.) The day after election, I said Republicans lost because they had nothing to offer but criticism. No plan. Denounce, but don't suggest. Now comes along Mr. Brisbane and says the same, Mr. Borah, young Bob La Follette, and Hiram Johnson, now I don't want any better approval than that. It's nothing but the old saying, "You can't beat something with nothing." We had a man in California that polled eight hundred thousand votes, not because that many thought he was right. But simply because he at least had a plan. I imagine Roosevelt is wrong, but there ain't nobody just smart enough to tell him where he is wrong.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

The center voted to contribute $5 to each member going to the convention at Bakersfield up to $50 and if more than 10 members go to pro-rate the money.

Gets Jail Term On Theft Charge

Arrested in August with a group of Los Angeles men while stealing oranges from a grove near La Habra, John Allen Linberger, 37, was returned to Orange county yesterday and taken before Judge Halsey Spence in Fullerton today.

Linberger has been serving a 90-day sentence in Los Angeles for petty theft and was brought here at the conclusion of his term by Deputy Sheriff Fred Swartz and Steve Duhart of the farm patrol. Charged with the same offense today, he was sentenced to pay a $30 fine or serve 15 days in jail. He failed to pay the fine and was committed to jail.

Talk Subway For Protection Of Jaycee Students

Agitation for a subway across North Main street at Tenth for the use of junior college students was underway on the jaycee campus today, following favorable comment on the project from campus and county officials.

With the great amount of traffic on the state highway past the school and the continual passing of students from building to building, a subway would prevent congestion of traffic and be a safeguard to students, it was pointed out.

McDonald said that he will insure Mrs. Dope's presence at a second trial. She successfully dodged a state subpoena which would have drawn her into the case as a rebuttal witness for the state.

She has scheduled the public eye since the July day her husband went to a ranch near Dunnigan and shot and killed her lover, the 22-year-old University of California student whose poems had won many college prizes and whose epic work, "The White Hibiscus," was dedicated to dark-eyed Mrs. Dope.

THREE BALLET TO BE GIVEN IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—Music and dance patrons of Southern California will see Lester Horton's original, gypsy version of Ravel's "Bolero" ballet at the Philharmonic auditorium Friday night, November 30. Boynton's "Voodoo" and Browne's "Oriental" will be the other two ballets on the program.

Noted soloists and a brilliant ensemble of 60 dancers will appear. In order to provide a more intimate setting, the 1934-35 ballet series of the Horton company originally scheduled for the Shrine will be given at the Philharmonic instead on the last Friday evening of each month from November to March. Three new ballets will be offered on each date, using music by leading modern composers.

The forthcoming Philharmonic showing will be the first staging of Ravel's "Bolero" here in the modern dance manner, enhanced by lavish backgrounds, elaborate costumes and exotic lighting. The story unfolds the adventure of a gypsy bandit who roams the mountains of northern Spain.

"Voodoo" is a new ballet revealing dance rituals on the Island of Haiti. "Oriental" is a grotesque ballet introducing native mask and ceremonial dances of Siam and Cambodia.

A. E. Confer, manager of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association, announced today that the first walnut pool would close at five o'clock, November 15, and that there would be only one pool this year.

He said that he expected that the pool would reach a total of 700 tons this year. This is 100 tons more than last year when 600 tons were shipped by the Association.

REV. KENNEDY, FORMER PASTOR HERE, CALLED

The Rev. Joseph G. Kennedy, 82, retired minister of the United Presbyterian church passed away at his home, 311 East Bishop street last evening. He had been a resident of California for 21 years.

The Rev. Mr. Kennedy who had been in poor health for some time, was pastor of the United Presbyterian church here for nine years before being transferred to Los Angeles. Upon his retirement three years ago he returned to Santa Ana.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Olive L. Kennedy, one daughter, Mrs. John McAuley of 627 Orange Avenue, and three grandchildren, Mrs. Wm. Hill, Jean McAuley, and Betty A. McAuley.

Services will be conducted from the United Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock Tuesday with Smith and Tutthill in charge. Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

VOICE RECORDINGS BEING MADE HERE

Another forward step in the perfection of recorded music which makes it possible for the records to be reproduced in the home with a fidelity of tone rivaling the original was announced today by Bob White, manager of the radio department of the J. C. Horton Furniture company, Sixth and Main streets, Santa Ana.

The engineers of the RCA Victor company at Camden, N. J., who developed the new records have termed it "Higher Fidelity" to describe the method. According to White the term means that full resonance of a symphony orchestra, solo instrument, or the human voice are faithfully reproduced.

White said that the new records have more depth, power, and greater range which makes for greater realism in the reproduction. According to the announcement all records will be made by the new system, and a complete new record department will be installed at the J. C. Horton Furniture company and will include recordings of popular song hits, and Red Seal musical masterpieces. The enlarged department is being installed, White said, to take care of the demand due to increased interest in recorded music.

LOCAL GROUP IN HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Because there are nearly 700,000 people sick with tuberculosis in the United States, and the disease is preventable, the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association is joining with the other associations in a "Tuberculosis Robs You. Public Health Protects You" campaign.

According to the announcement made today by the Orange County association the disease is the greatest single cause of death of persons between the ages of 19 to 25. Death from tuberculosis is the second only to that by accident.

The announcement stated that great gains could be made in preventing tuberculosis by wholehearted support of the public in Christmas Seal sales, and support of the association's educational and preventative work.

Persons wishing to investigate the educational service are invited to visit the offices in room 602 First National Bank building where a thorough explanation will be made.

$96,000 GIVEN 2 CITIES FOR SEWER SYSTEM

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 10.—Although the city of Seal Beach recently decided against a joint sewer system with Sunset Beach, the public works administration has appropriated the sum of $96,000 for the project, according to telegrams received here yesterday.

Under the original plans, Sunset Beach planned a system of mains while Seal Beach expected to erect a disposal system, to be used jointly by the two communities. Recently, Seal Beach decided against the joint plan and took initial steps to get federal aid on its own sewer system and also on a water system.

City Engineer Vic Hayes went to Oceanside today to confer with City Attorney Burr A. Brown regarding the matter. Mayor E. J. Hughes said this morning that complete details of the appropriation had not been received. As the money has been appropriated, both districts are expected to accept. The Sunset Beach appropriation was for $44,000, while Seal Beach was given $52,000. Of the amount, 30 per cent an outright grant, with the remaining 70 per cent in the form of a loan.

Mrs. Virginia Lee Cookson, Forest of Arden farmette who was heroine of an alleged kidnaping a decade ago, after she had earlier made a spectacular armed defense of a pipe-line near her home, during a water dispute, appeared in a new role here yesterday.

She won a divorce decree in Superior Judge George Scovel's court, where she testified to desertion and non-support on the part of her husband, Walter M. Cookson.

The couple married at Avalon in 1916, and separated April 1, 1922, at about the time Mrs. Cookson began to startle the public, first by standing guard over her pipe-line with a shotgun when opposing interests essayed to shut off the water supply to her Modjeska ranch home.

Later she disappeared while driving home one night, her empty coupe being found near Irvine park. Some days later she reappeared at Calexico, relating a story of abduction and sale to a Chinese at Mexicali, where she was kept prisoner in a cellar until a Chinese boy aided her to escape across the border, she said.

Considered the highest scholastic honor offered at the Santa Ana junior college, membership in Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college honorary society, has been extended to 24 students, it was announced today.

Those eligible for membership are Susanna Alexander, Mariana Baxter, Kenneth Beard, Hazel Berge, Eleanor Bowyer, Christie Demetriou, Dick Gilliland, Evelyn Furtch, Oleda, Mary Jackson, George Holmes, John Johnson, Roy McKnight, Alice Martin, Claude Owens, Merilee Rankin, Eleanor Reade, Arthur Reed, George Robertson, Freddie Sawtelle, Erma Seamans, Marian Shaley, Reed Sutherland and Eleanor Walter.

John Powers, charged with drunkenness, was fined $25 and promised to pay it later, when he appeared in police court yesterday.

Charged with disturbing the peace, Angel Calvillo pleaded not guilty in police court yesterday, waived a jury and had his trial set for November 14 at 10 a. m.

Cassius N. Foster, 45, Los Angeles, was booked at the county jail yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Fred Swayze and Steve Duhart on a bench warrant from the Santa Ana justice court.

M. Corinne Tucker charged her husband, Lloyd Tucker, of Santa Ana, with cruelty, when filing suit for divorce late yesterday in superior court. They married at Yuma January 24, 1933, and separated November 6, this year. They have a son, one year old.

The wife charged that Tucker struck her and told her mother he intended to commit suicide in such a way that it would appear his wife had murdered him.

Elsie G. Dobbins has brought suit in superior court to foreclose a mortgage against property at Laguna Heights.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel late yesterday granted a divorce to Mrs. Pearl M. Hyde against Walter B. Hyde, on grounds of non-support. The couple married December 24, 1924, and separated June 1, 1932.

That her husband knocked her down, whipped her with a leather belt, and threw a tin pail at her, on various occasions, was charged by Mrs. Maryellen Puckett, Santa Ana, in winning a divorce yesterday from Pleasant H. Puckett, in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court. The Pucketts were married at Allison, Iowa, November 17, 1929, and after frequent brief separations, finally parted September 10, this year.

TRAFFIC CRASH PICTURES ON DISPLAY HERE

"Lost We Forget" is the appropriate title to an exhibit of traffic accident pictures now on display in the office of the California Highway Patrol in the courthouse basement.

State Officer George Peterkin, photographer for the patrol, has been taking pictures of accidents throughout the county for months and originated the idea of the bulletin board. Every applicant for a driver's license and others who have business with the patrol is forced to look at the results of reckless driving, drunk-driving and carelessness on the highways.

In addition to his traffic accident views, Peterkin has posted some excellent photographs of the recent high tides at Newport Beach, which washed away much of the beach and many fine homes. The pictures will be changed from time to time by Peterkin to serve as a continual reminder to motorists that accidents must be decreased.

DEATH CLAIMS RESIDENT HERE FOR 58 YEARS

POLICE HEAD SENDS LETTER TO SHERIFF

Fullerton, Nov. 10.—Chief of Police James Pearson, of Fullerton today sent a letter to the sheriff congratulating him on his reelection.

Pearson's letter stated: "May I again assure you, Mr. Sheriff, as I did when you were elected in 1930, that this office recognizes only a working program of cooperation between your office and this department; that we may give to the people of Orange county the service that they are rightly entitled to, for their trust in keeping us in office."

"It has always been my ardent desire while serving the public as a police officer, to give the best service that I am capable of offering; and if minor differences of opinion should arise between yourself and this office, it is my hope that the public whom we are trying to serve, and who have a right to rely upon our ability, are not short changed by their confidence in us."

The letter concluded with a hope that "this expression of fairness may register in your plans for a more successful administration gained by time and experience, which is essential to us both."

124 J. C. STUDENTS GET FEDERAL JOBS

Setting a new high mark, 124 students at the Santa Ana junior college are employed this month on FERA projects. It was revealed in a college report today.

During September, there were 107 students on the federal payroll and a few more were added last month. Several students were removed for incompetency on certain projects. Included in the types of work done under the FERA are reading for instructors, clerical work, landscaping, messenger service, switchboard operation, janitor's assistants, and accompanists.

That quaint old custom of dumping a baby cannon on the front lawn of an American Legion member who receives an addition to his family was being carried out today in honor of William H. Wollaston, 2025 North Main street.

Mrs. Wollaston gave birth to a son yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital and the new arrival has been named William Owen. Hearing of the news, Legion friends commandeered a truck today, visited the home of Joseph Quellet, 607 East Second street, and carted the cannon to the front of the Wollaston home. The gun had been in Quellet's possession for nearly two months.

The cannon formerly rested in front of the American Legion hall on Birch street but has seen a lot of territory in Santa Ana since the war vets started toting it around after the stork.

GROWERS MEET TO CONSIDER PRORATE PLANS OF STUDENTS

Orange county growers of field and truck crops were interested today in a series of state-prorate and federal crop adjustment matters, made public through officers of the county farm adviser, affecting growers of carrots, green onions, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes and sugar beets.

A meeting of growers was called today at Farm Bureau hall, Santa Ana, to consider prorate petitions for carrots, green onions and cauliflower, which had been received and were awaiting signatures of growers.

Cabbage growers also met at the Farm Bureau today to consider a proposal for a cabbage prorate agreement. Stabilization of the market, with better prices for the growers, was stated to be the object of the proposal.

Orange county tomato growers were informed by C. W. Musser, county zone agent, representing the Southern California prorate deal, that they have been allotted 20,000 lugs as next week's shipment. The prorate committee curtailed production 30 per cent. Prorate tags or stamps may be obtained from Musser any Saturday, as follows: 7 to 7:30 a. m. at Ray Johnson's home, Placentia (Placentia avenue, north of Chapman); 8:30 to 10:30 a. m. at Irvine Japanese school; 1 p. m. at home of Gaston D. Griest, Irvine boulevard, east of Newport road, Tustin.

Sugar beet growers learned that the federal government will distribute approximately $2,000,000 among California growers this year, if all beet growers cooperate with AAA in adjusting acreage and production to meet effective demand. Assistant Farm Advisor Eric E. Eastman reported such advances from Washington.

Eastman announced a new ruling designed to simplify the mechanics of executing AAA sugar beet adjustment production contracts. Growers owning or leasing more than one farm on which beets are produced, may sign all such land under one agreement, if desired, provided the farms all are located within a specified allotment district. The state consists of but two allotment districts, divided at Monterey.

Members present included President Lorin Griest, Secretary Joe Veach, Robert Eastman, Brent and Robert Wahlberg, David Flaherty, Warren and Gordon Danielson, Orval Barber, Charles Ralph, Ray Cowser, Assistant leader Bruce Johnston and Club leader Wilma Griest.

THEFTS SOLVED WITH ARREST OF STUDENTS

Solution of many thefts at the Santa Ana high school and the burglary of the home of Charles Friend, 508 North Olive street, on November 4, when valuable musical instruments were stolen, was effected yesterday when police arrested two Santa Ana high school youths and booked them at the jail for burglary.

The boys were James F. Clark, 20, 323 North Broadway, a senior at the school, and a 16-year-old junior. Officer C. W. Wolford made the arrests after tracing the stolen goods to second hand stores in Long Beach and Los Angeles, where all of it was recovered.

The boys admitted all the thefts, according to Wolford. The 16-year-old boy will be taken into the juvenile court while Clark waived his preliminary hearing in the Santa Ana justice court today. Judge Kenneth Morrison fixed bail at $2500.

A banjo, mandolin and guitar, valued at $227, were taken from the Friend home and recovered by Wolford yesterday. The boys are being prosecuted on this charge.

Included in the articles stolen at the high school were tennis rackets owned by Roy Potter, Jack Yerington and George Young, watches owned by Fred Beasley and an unknown owner, and two valuable rings, neither of which has been claimed by the owner.

CITY LIBRARY RESPLENDENT IN NEW PAINT

The old city library, long a landmark at Fifth and Sycamore, doesn't seem so old now, following the application of a new coat of attractive buff paint.

SERA workers have finished the long task of painting the building and the scaffolds are being taken down.

When the building was erected in 1903, the walls were painted and the library was one of the showplaces of the city. As the years passed by, funds were never allocated for a new paint job and the dust and dirt began to cover the plaster. The climax came a year ago March when the earthquake cracked the building in many places and added to the unsightliness of the walls.

The broken roof and the more important repairs were made shortly after the earthquake but the painting was delayed until an SERA project was approved several months ago. Work finally started and nine painters were set to work applying two coats of waterproof paint to the outside of the library. The buff color was selected for the walls with trimmings in two shades of darker brown. The SERA contributed $618 in labor and the city purchased paint worth $300.

The job was finished today.

ITINERANT HELD

Dr. Raymond Brooks, formerly of Pomona college, will be the speaker for the World Fellowship vesper meeting to be held in the Y.W.C.A. auditorium, Fifth and Main streets, at 4 p. m. tomorrow, which is open to the public, and which is the forerunner to the drive for maintenance funds.

Forethought may Save Bitter Regrets

BETTER be able to say: "I feel that my valuables and papers are safe" than to moan: "Oh how I wish I had used a Security-First Safe Deposit Vault."

Too many important documents, too many stock certificates, bonds, jewels and other valuables are lying around in desks and dressers—left to be the prey of thieves, or fire or carelessness.

Forethought, now, TODAY, will give them the protection of steel and concrete, combination locks, an electric alarm system and watchful care.

SECURITY-FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF LOS ANGELES

 FRANK J. WAS,

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon
NO COMMENT

President Roosevelt was conspicuously silent immediately after election. News men near him considered it strange that he warded off all laconic "No comment." Instead of talking, he hastened back to his White House desk and called in his chief advisers.

The explanation privately offered was that it would be presumptuous for him to say anything. He could not even thank the voters without assuming that the victory was his own. That would get him in bad with incoming Congressmen who think they won the election. Far worse, it would be in conflict with the pose he has assumed all along that he took no part in the election.

That explanation is authentic, as far as it goes, but it does not explain all.

Just between you and the gate post, the President was a little perturbed by the extent of the sweep and the added responsibility it put on him. Apparently, he thought he could respond better in actions than in words.

ACTION

Feelers and hints have been dropped from time to time lately as to what one phase of the "action" would be. For some weeks now government experts have been at work secretly on plans for getting out of last winter's debt system into work relief.

One government official met only last week in private with a group of bankers and industrialists in New York. He told them the Administration was determined to put all the unemployed to work this winter and cost would not be permitted to stand in the way. They offered no strong objections.

The President himself has hinted as much to recent callers. They have an impression that he will go easy on the money end of the program, probably mentioning no specific amount. That is because the immediate cost of work relief is greater than the debt. The waste seepage is greater. But the work is constructive and has a value for the future, even if it goes no further than giving each hungry man an acre, a mule and a plow.

PROMOTION

The President's forthcoming trip through the TVA project is in line with the new trend. In fact, it is really promotion balmy for the new trend.

Government officials are trying to get as many newsmen as possible to go along on the inspection tour. Extensive arrangements are being made for them to inform the public concerning TVA accomplishments. Up to now, the TVA has been operating very quietly, but apparently it is in shape now for the publicity floodlights to be turned on.

What the New Dealers have back in their heads, of course, is the establishment of projects similar to TVA in other sections (St. Lawrence, Columbia river, etc.).

BONUS COMPROMISE

A very influential Democrat is at work confidentially on a bonus compromise. He is Senator Pat Harrison, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. Harrison has made several secret trips to Administrator Hines of veterans' affairs and even to the White House. The something out before Congress New Dealers plan on working forces action.

From all these steps, you can see very clearly that what Mr. Roosevelt is trying to do is to beat Congress to the jump on everything.

PUBLICITY

The Treasury has been mum about publishing income tax returns, but preparations for their publication are being made on the inside. The internal revenue bureau is quietly preparing forms which taxpayers will be required to fill out with their March 15 returns. The forms would require taxpayer to list the key figures of income and tax paid without any of the details of the return.

However, the Bureau is NOT having these forms printed, as yet. Apparently it believes some one (Mr. Roosevelt or Congress) may order the arrangements cancelled before March 15.

NOTES

The NRA occupies ten buildings in the downtown area. Its headquarters is in the Commerce Department building, but it has bureaus scattered in nine other spots.

There is a room in the Commerce Department which is always kept locked. It is the Deal Hall of Fame, where Sculptor Reuben Nakian has finished busts of Richberg, Tugwell, Johnson, Hull and McGrady. He will do Roosevelt and Howe before anyone gets in.

That wasn't an election we had; it was a popularity contest.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

RAILS

The handwriting of direct government ownership grows blacker on the railroad wall. The closer New York experts look at the rail picture the more they figure it would have time and money for the roads to hand themselves over to Uncle Sam without further argument.

Forty years is a long time but comparison of current railroad statistics with those of forty years ago is illuminating. Then the gross income of American railroads was around a billion dollars a year. Now it's around three billion dollars. Yet aggregate net earnings are about the same for the two periods—$300,000,000—despite the trebling of gross receipts.

Tax and wage costs account for much of this failure to gain. The railway tax bill has mounted in 4 years from $37,000,000 to $175,000,000—a sevenfold increase. Wages have tripled in the same period from half a billion dollars a year to a billion and a half. Insiders can't see the remotest chance that either of these items will shrink appreciably in the future.

So they say it's as futile to try to cure the railroads' ailments with reduced interest rates and other financial policies as it is to treat a broken leg with court plaster. Admittedly there are a few roads which can keep their heads above water but they are pathetically scarce. Wise opinion holds that the more RFC money is poured in to ease the railroads' grief the sooner the government will have to take over.

SKEPTICAL

Spectacular experiments with Diesel stream-lined trains fail to rouse practical analysts from their gloom. They grant that the gains in economy and speed—if introduced even five years ago—might have turned the tide. But they offer two cogent reasons as to why these two factors won't help now.

One is that no one will have the slightest interest in making the huge capital outlay necessary for a sweeping change of equipment unless it's the good Uncle in Washington. "You couldn't give away new railroads issues these days with a gallon of liquor as a bonus—let alone sell them."

The second is that the stream-lined trains are reported much less comfortable than the old-fashioned type. "If you're in a hurry you take an airplane. The only reason for traveling by train is comfort. So why sacrifice for speed if it doesn't mean anything?"

COAL

The soft coal business swears by—not at its code more enthusiastically than any other industry. There's an excellent reason. Prices are almost double what they were when the code went into effect and lots of companies are making money which hadn't been daylight since 1925. The authorities have been on their toes to stamp out bootleg undercutting.

You may wonder why the utilities and railroads haven't squawked about the jump in their fuel costs. The utilities haven't because improved conditions in the coal country—leading to larger sales of electricity—have more than offset the cost increase. The railroads' case is sadder. They refrained from yelling murder because higher fuel charges would bolster their case for higher rates. But alas, the Interstate Commerce Commission remains painfully unimpressed.

HELP

The Securities and Exchange Commission is quietly stepping up its efforts to make life easier for security dealers and listed corporations.

Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy is personally credited with working out the new questionnaire which makes registration practically painless for listed companies. He has been careful not to take liberties with the law itself but has succeeded in eliminating miles of red tape. Now the investment bankers want him to frame a comparable questionnaire to guide them in coping with the intricacies of the Securities Act and it's understood he's friendly to the idea.

Insiders will also tell you that the Commission is exerting gentle but persistent pressure on the Federal Reserve to modify its margin requirements and simplify the rules. It remains to be seen how Congress will react to the spectacle of its wolf trainer stroking the wolf's ears.

ZEAL

Wall Street's only complaint against the Securities and Exchange Commission is the zest of some of its employees for compliance with technical details.

Their insistence that the names of the ten largest holders of each class of stock in a listed corporation be available to the public has stirred quite a rumpus. This conflict directly with a New York State law which provides that no stockholder's name may be published without his written consent. The situation promises to breed fancy lawsuits for companies which obey Commission orders against the wishes of stockholders. Wall Street lawyers are urging Mr. Kennedy to curb his subordinates' zeal.

DIVIDENDS

The October dividend record sheds light on corporate anxiety to get out from under a possible tax on surpluses. Six hundred twenty-four companies declared aggregate dividends of $148,000,000 as against $130,000,000 distributed by 520 companies in October, 1933.

This increase took place at the same time that 165 leading corporations were reporting third quarter earnings 25 1/2 per cent below those for the same period last year.

RETAINED

New York gets a kick out of this one. Some months ago a writer submitted an article to a magazine editor dealing with a federal department. The editor agreed to take it provided it was signed by a leading official of the department in question. It was no trouble to find an official willing to sponsor it for a consideration—and the consideration was paid.

But by the time publication date arrived this official's star had waned considerably. The editor pondered and finally brought out the article over the name of the original author, N. B. The official retained his retainer.

BY CONTINENTAL ARGUS

JAPAN

Several months this column has been pointing out details of Japan's "economic expansion" in the Far and Near East. Tokyo's trade agreements, naval bases and concessions are planned with one great object—to cut off England from her eastern possessions. Further disturbing revelations come from British industrial observers and diplomatic agents.

London awakes to the fact that the "penetration" of Abyssinia by Japan (see European Whirligig October 6-7) is far more dangerous than it appears at first sight. By agreement with the King of Abyssinia one hundred thousand Japanese cotton planters are settling in the district of Lake Tsana. This forty square mile lake and the adjoining watershed is the key to the Nile Valley—Egypt and the Sudan. It is the source of the Blue Nile which floods down the necessary fertile topsoil and irrigates the Nile Valley from May to September—during the dry season of the White Nile. The British Sudan dams divert this water to irrigate some 1000 square miles of cotton country—one of Britain's proudest feats. The British authorities have used those dams to rule Egypt for years. The life of the inhabitants depends on them.

When the Japanese "cotton planters" have finished the Abyssinian "irrigation system," the all important water will be under Japanese control. Japan will have Great Britain's most important outpost on the way to India by the throat. Whether London will let it come to that remains to be seen. The Lake Tsana district is easy to defend, and a hundred thousand men could make a fair sized army.

Such conflicts form a dark background to the present Anglo-Japanese exchange of courtesies. China and India are big stakes. To the eastern countries with low living standards cheap Japanese goods are a blessing, and skillfully conducted Japanese propaganda makes them feel far more closely related to Tokyo than to London. Most English statesmen think that only Japan's defeat in a Russo-Japanese war and the collapse of the present system can prevent an eventual Anglo-Japanese conflict.

But London Foreign Office insiders think that the military influence in Japanese politics, while still dominant, is on the wane. The downfall of the Okada Cabinet within the next few months is prophesied. The army's plan to make the Japanese ambassador in Manchukuo commander-in-chief of the Japanese forces there has met with excited resistance from Nippon's civilian population. The dissatisfaction of the people with the militaristic policy and the high costs of imperialism are becoming more and more pronounced.

GERMANY

Berlin diplomatic circles regard the coming of the new Soviet ambassador, Suriz, as a very bad omen. Germany has broken off all efforts for reconciliation with Russia and has sent a third-class diplomat as ambassador to Moscow to demonstrate the fact. The Soviets, however, have sent one of their shrewdest statesmen, graduate of the Bolshevik Chelka, and the OGPU, to Berlin. Insiders see him as the center of the growing underground Communist movement in Germany. He is more than a match for the German Foreign Office and the German State Police. Moscow is hopeful that Hitler will not last over the winter and has placed a man in Berlin who will best know what to do if the crash comes.

King Alexander's burial was more of a diplomatic congress than a funeral. Belgrade was a hornet's nest of intrigue. French President Lebrun, Foreign Minister Laval and Marshal Petain, equipped with promises of friendship and gold, descended on the prominent Yugoslav politicians to assure their adherence to the French plans for an Italian-Yugoslav-Balkan bloc. Hitler sent "Christmas Tree" Goering to break up those efforts. He was not so unsuccessful as the anti-Nazi press would have us believe. Substantial German advertising contracts made a great impression on the Yugoslav press, which in exchange is stirring up the feeling against Italy. Goering stressed the point that Yugoslavia was one of the high lights of the season.

FRANCE

In the face of almost unanimous press comment to the contrary, your correspondent has repeatedly stressed the impermanence of any Polish-German entente against France. Recent developments confirm this view. France has pointed her big guns at Poland, and Warsaw has had a shock from the first salvo. On instructions from Paris Russia has canceled almost all orders for Polish goods, a tremendous loss, particularly for the Polish textile industry. Germany "cannot open a market to compensate this loss" and is beginning to get cold feet and wonder whether it wouldn't be better to join in the French-Russian entente and let the German flirtation slide altogether, particularly as France threatens with a complete industrial boycott and a Franco-Russian military alliance which will give Poland's generals plenty to think about. Paris has been very shrewd, and with simulated indifference has made Poland feel very small. France and Russia, all mean, mean to be more permanent institutions than Hitler Germany.

NELSON EDDY TO SING AT CLAREMONT

CLAREMONT, Nov. 10.—Nelson Eddy, popular young American baritone, returns to Bridges auditorium here Monday evening, November 20, in the second event of the Claremont Colleges Artist Course.

Since his local appearance last season, Eddy sang in the Hollywood Bowl in the concert version of Carmen, where he appeared before one of the largest audiences of the Bowl season.

Eddy began his musical career as a youthful soloist with several boys' choirs, and was discovered by David Blapham. His appearance this week with Doris Kenyon in the opera "The Secret of Suzanne" at Shrine Auditorium was one of the high lights of the season.

of raw and agrarian products, will find a far better permanent market in Germany than in stingy France. Berlin's shrewd plan is to impress Belgrade with Germany's "hidden" wealth and to stave off a Yugoslav-Italian-French entente until Rome and Belgrade have recovered from the shock of the Marseilles assassination and the natural hatred between Italy and Yugoslavia flares up again. It may work. It's too early to see yet.

A British observer motoring in Germany near the Czechoslovakian border noticed about a hundred planes flying in closed formation. They came down and were apparently swallowed up in a wood. The Englishman snoop-around and found that the "wood" was surrounded by barbed wire and posted "Poachers will be shot on sight." Goering can hide his flying-fields, but he's beginning to find it hard to hide his fiefs.

German War Office insiders say that the experiments of various airplane factories in silent flying are coming along nicely. The facts are absolutely secret, but it seems that a new type of propeller and a muffler, which cuts sound to a minimum but does not decrease power by very little, are the main factors. A triumphant engineer remarked somewhat incautiously to your correspondent, "We'll cut airplane noise by 80 per cent. Then just let them try to spot us at high altitudes."

AUSTRIA

Ever since the murder of Chancellor Dollfuss and the removal of his restraining hand the personal friction between the members of the Government and the rivalry between the clerical party and the Fascist Heimwehr have gone from bad to worse. Prince Starhemberg and a clique of degenerate Austrian aristocrats are at odds with the Heimwehr, and frustrate the efforts of Chancellor Schuschnigg toward sensible reorganization and development. The reconciliation of labor to the new state has been stopped by Starhemberg because the only man who could bring it about, Vice Mayor Winter of Vienna, might possibly overshadow him. The Prince prefers to arm his Heimwehr against the eventualities of another Red outbreak. Austria and Germany are ruled by men of the same calibre.

It has been rumored that Major Fey had more to do with the Vienna Nazi putsch and the murder of Dollfuss than is generally known. Your correspondent was wrong in believing this story, which was purely a political whispering campaign. Fey has decisive evidence in his hands proving his own innocence but directly implicating Secretary of State for Security Karwinsky in the plot. Dollfuss trusted Karwinsky more than Fey and placed the supervision of all police matters in his hands, even though this was nominally Fey's department. Before the putsch Karwinsky was blind and deaf to the definite indications of its coming. It was he who failed to give the necessary orders for the defense of the Chancellor. And, worst of all, on being taken prisoner by the insurgents, he demanded to be released immediately and to have his card with his compliments presented to the "new Nazi chancellor Rintelen." Fey, now fearing the loss of his job as Minister of the Interior as a result of the whispering campaign, is threatening to let out the whole matter, which would knock the Government for a loop. There's plenty of dynamite left in Austria for the Nazis to set off once they have the Saar plebiscite off their minds.

ARMISTICE ★ DAY ★

HE LIES in final peace, who fought the battle of all nations.

In sacred beauty stands his tomb, and each year countless thousands pay it reverence with bowed head. A famous general places a wreath of laurel at its side. A diplomat utters inspirational phrases to commemorate another Armistice Day. And still he lies in peaceful slumber, embraced by eternity. For what are wreaths, and what are phrases . . . without peace? When we assure our Unknown Soldier of peace everlasting, then are we paying him the tribute which was worth life itself.

WORK ON TENTS FOR PUPILS TO BEGIN MONDAY

FULLERTON, Nov. 10.—Work will begin Monday morning on erection of 13 tents to house the Fullerton Junior High school students now housed in the Wilshire building. Arrangements were completed yesterday when the board of trustees of the school awarded the contract for tents to the Pacific Built Homes company of Los Angeles, low bidders. The bid was $5200.

The tent city will be constructed on the campus, cornering Lawrence and Chapman avenues. In addition to tent construction, the board arranged to get SERRA labor for construction of the few frame buildings that will be needed, for gas, heating and water installation, and for removing seats and blackboards from the Wilshire school, that will be either rebuilt or demolished after the students are safely housed. SERRA labor amounting to about $4000 has been asked for that piece of additional work. Ten men will be employed. Another SERRA project, calling for about $2000 labor, is to be opened immediately, when six men will be employed to take the second story from the Maple building.

According to Walter Humphreys, member of the board, the tents will likely be ready for occupancy by December 1.

Definite plans are not ready concerning the Wilshire building, which has been pronounced unsafe for occupancy. The members of the board have received estimates indicating that it will cost approximately $65,000 to rebuild the structure to make it comply with the state law. In the event, no auditorium would be included in the building. It was estimated that at a cost of about twice as much a modern building could be constructed, including an auditorium. Projects for demolition or reconstruction of the building will not be considered until the plans for rebuilding are completed.

Declares Little Theater Movement Gaining In East

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 10.—That the legitimate theater in New York takes precedence over the movies, reversing the situation in Los Angeles, is the word brought back here by R. Van Hoorbeke, well known artist, designer and interior decorator, maintaining studios in Hollywood and Laguna Beach, who returned yesterday from a brief business trip to eastern points.

Hoorbeke also declared that the little theater movement is moving ahead with surprising rapidity throughout the eastern and southern states, providing a medium of expression on the various social and economic problems facing the nation. A great many of the recent New York successes are tried out in these small theaters, and they are also a great source of supply for stage talent, he declared.

Shows in New York seem to be produced with much more finish and style than is the case here, and they are not afraid to use color, he said.

Bazaar Planned By Woman's Club

SILVER ACRES, Nov. 10.—The Silver Acres Woman's club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Grace Neff this week with Mrs. Alta Neff as co-hostess. A short business meeting was held during which plans were discussed for the bazaar which is to be held next month. Several guessing games were played during the afternoon, at which Mrs. Hattie Drake carried off the honors.

The hostesses served gingerbread and whipped cream, and coffee to the following club members: Mrs. Lydia Wieda, of Huntington Beach; Mrs. Hattie Drake, of Garden Grove; Mrs. Minnie Smith, Mrs. Sivola Bishop, Mrs. Pauline Patterson, Mrs. Mildred Davis, Mrs. Pearl Davis and Mrs. Bertha Slat. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Bertha Slat with Mrs. Minnie Smith as the assisting hostess.

PUBLIC SCHOOL RECEPTION IS GIVEN PRAISE HELD BY BUENA VISTA DR. DEXTER PARK P.-T. A.

FULLERTON, Nov. 10.—The great purpose of the public school is the preservation of civilization, according to Dr. Walter Dexter, former president of Whittier college, who talked Friday night at the Educational week meeting sponsored by Fullerton Council of Parent-Teacher associations.

The meeting was at Fullerton Union High school auditorium. Dean W. T. Boyce of Fullerton District Junior college, presided and introduced the speaker. On the platform were Charles Ruby, director of the Fullerton forum; Mrs. Claude Russell, president of the P.-T. A.; Mrs. W. T. Kiven, fourth district president; Mrs. Fowler, vice president of Wilshire P.-T. A., representing Mrs. C. W. Hart, Mrs. W. B. Purdy, vice president of the council, and Mrs. Harry Maxwell, president of Ford P.-T. A. Dean Boyce represented Joseph Reece, president of the High school P.-T. A.

Dr. Dexter outlined the history of public education, beginning with the vision of Joseph Lancaster of London concerning the need of all people being well informed. He said the cost of public education is negligible compared to the results, and warned that it is the one foundation for civilization.

Preceding his talk, Mrs. Harold Nielson presented a group of pipe organ numbers.

The Capella choir, under the direction of Benjamin Edwards, sang a group of numbers and was warmly received. The group presented "Bless the Lord," by Tschokoff; "A Ballad of Trees and the Master," by Matthews and "Praise the Lord," by Christiansen.

Program numbers were readings, "A Night in a Pullman Car" and "An Irish Cottage," by Myrna La Rue of Cypress. "One Night of Love" and "I Only Have Eyes for You," vocal solos of James Baker of Fullerton, with piano accompaniment by Miss Mildred Gallagher; vocal solos by Cleo Hunter, with piano accompaniment by a stringed orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Burke of Whittier, members of which were Flora Brown, Arthur Lacey, Barbara Culp, Dorothy Hood, Verla Simpson, Elva Headlee, Arthur Martin, Virgil Moore, Bill Dyer and Dale Mendenhall, and vocal solos by Miss Velta Keeler with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Floyd Neal.

Those facts were meager enough. The finger print experts had been unable to find anything at all to the solution of the mystery. The only prints in the apartment clear enough to be read were those of Miss Hollister herself and her brother.

Servants and tenants of the hotel had been questioned about events the afternoon before. No one could recall seeing anyone suspicious there. Mrs. Russell Kennebec, who lived across the hall from the Hollisters, had reported hearing voices, one of which she thought was Miss Hollister's, some time during the afternoon. Investigation had disclosed that between 3 and 3:30 a. m. had delivered laundry to the apartment. The boy, whose name was John Gregory, told police he had brought the laundry, as he always did each week. He said Miss Hollister had checked over the list to be sure everything had been returned, paid him and added (as she often had) that the price of laundry was "highway robbery."

So far as could be learned, this boy was the last person to see Miss Hollister alive. He reported that she had not seemed disturbed and there had not seemed unusual in her manner. Apparently the police questioning was the first the boy had learned of the murder.

Efforts were being made to trace the ownership of the silk scarf with which Miss Hollister had been strangled. There was a photograph of the scarf on the front page of the newspaper. It was a black scarf with narrow white stripes, grouped together at intervals of an inch or more. The scarf appeared to be an old one. There was no mark of any sort on it.

The time of Miss Hollister's death had been set definitely as "between three and five o'clock." Matthew Hollister's story that he had been out of the building at that time had been partially corroborated. The clerk at the Shelby Arms remembered seeing Hollister leave the hotel early in the afternoon and saw him return a few minutes before he ran downstairs for help.

Nothing had been taken from the apartment, eliminating the possibility that robbery could have been the motive for the crime.

Those were the facts. Bannister was puzzling over them, as he had been for several hours, when he heard his name spoken. He looked up and saw a woman coming toward him.

"David—David Bannister!" she said. "You haven't forgotten me, have you?"

"Why, of course not, Mrs. Harbrough. How do you do?"

The woman was short and rather stout. She wore a long coat of brown fur and a brown hat. The hat was tilted slightly, "howing the hair beneath to be quite gray."

"Oh, I'm as well as usual," she said. "This time of the year I always have trouble with my rheumatism. How's your aunt?"

"Never better," he assured her. "That's fine. Tell her I'm coming over to see her some afternoon."

Mrs. Harbrough was an old friend of Mrs. Hewlett's. For years they had lived side by side, and then the Harbroughs had moved to another part of town. Robert Harbrough was one of the town's most successful lawyers.

They stood for a few minutes talking casually. Then Mrs. Harbrough brought up the subject about which the whole town was buzzing.

"That was such a terrible thing that happened last night!" she said. "Simply terrible! You see I've known Melvina Hollister since she was a girl. I just couldn't believe it when I read about it."

"It was a horrible crime," Bannister agreed, "and apparently the whole thing's a complete mystery. The police don't seem to have been able to find out much."

"I just can't imagine who could do such a thing!" the woman went on. "Poor Melvina! I don't believe I've seen her a dozen times in the past two years, even though we used to be friends. Now and then I'd meet her shopping and she generally went to church on Sundays. She and her brother, My, it must have been a terrible shock for

PLAN IMPROVEMENT OF LAGUNA STREET

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 10.—Prospects of developing Glenneyre street into one of the main thoroughfares of the community, running parallel with the Coast boulevard and thus relieving traffic congestion during the summer season, became brighter today with receipt of advice that the State Highway commission, in drafting specifications for the widening of the Coast boulevard, is making provisions for the removal of some 23,000 cubic yards of dirt, to be placed at points designated by the city authorities.

In this connection, inquiries revealed, it is expected that the contract for the widening of the Coast boulevard from Coast Inn to the south city limits will be let in the latter part of December, with work beginning in January.

Efforts are being made to secure SERRA labor for the fills in connection with the extensions of Glenneyre street across Sloop Hollow and Blue Bird canyon. It was indicated that SERRA help may be asked for financing the purchase of culverts incidental to the proposed improvement, the cost of which has been estimated at $2000.

The acceptance of the free dirt from the state highway commission, the same being placed at designated points free of transportation cost to the city, means an actual saving of more than $6000 to the taxpayers, it was pointed out.

BEGIN HERE TODAY David Bannister undertakes to find out who killed Tracy King, once a newspaper man, an author and former newspaper man. His work on the murder case with the police is reported on the Post.

Among those suspected are Juliet France, blond, pretty and known to King; Herman Scurlish who wrote King a threatening letter; and Joe Parrett, down-and-out vaudeville actor. It is also known that Melvina Hollister, middle-aged spinster, had quarreled with King recently.

Juliet begs Bannister to "stop trying to find out who killed Tracy King," and that day Melvina Hollister is found dead. Bannister rushes to the hotel where she was staying, and finds her dead. He is also known that Melvina Hollister, middle-aged spinster, had quarreled with King recently.

Bannister paused to buy a paper from a newsboy, glanced at the headlines, and then went on with the newspaper tucked under his arm. Buying the newspaper had been a matter of habit. Already he knew the facts those columns contained—all that the police had learned, or been willing to disclose, about the death of Melvina Hollister.

Those facts were meager enough. The finger print experts had been unable to find anything at all to the solution of the mystery. The only prints in the apartment clear enough to be read were those of Miss Hollister herself and her brother.

BOOK REVIEWS

BY MARY BURKE KING

Zerathustra Jr. Speaks of Art, by Louis Dana, published by Brentano's.

Mr. Dana has written an erudite book on art. It is a discussion of the modern trend in art and the future for art in America. The discussion is carried forward by several characters who represent different attitudes, among them the pessimistic individual, influenced by Spengler and probable in his attitude representative of an average attitude, and the painter who is given the heaviest part of enlightenment.

The book is not dilettant. It is not easy for the layman to read. One is sure to feel, however, after reading it, that one has made some headway in acquiring some faith in this strange new art which portrays abstraction. There is a struggle before the layman to free his mind from prejudice so as to judge the modern movement in painting with sufficient dispassion and sympathy to do it justice. The book is helpful in this respect, but there is one terrible hurdle for just as he is finished reading he is plunged back into chaos when he is confronted with the reproductions which Mr. Dana has selected to illustrate his text. They are extreme. One sees reason and logic and common sense and future for the ideas in the text as they are presented by Mr. Dana.

Someone has said that it is no crime not to like the work of the moderns, but it is wrong not to try to understand it. A criticism of the modern artists themselves, is, however, that they justly conclude that the reason a person doesn't like the modern, even the latest modern work is because he hasn't taken the trouble to try to understand it. When one who lectured on some of the more extreme of the modern artists, however, made the statement that the only way to really appreciate them was to select a painting and sit before it hour after hour for seven or eight hours or every day an hour for a week then the basis for judging this art was removed. It is not a matter of reason and logic and sense to emotion and spirit. That is possibly where it belongs. But either there is or there isn't a rational intellectual approach to the moderns. Mr. Dana believes that there is a rational approach to the understanding of what the moderns are trying to do and so it has its appeal to the practical person. But the understanding by that approach seems to end with the text—where the illustrations begin. That is a bit disconcerting. A group of illustrations less extreme than those incorporated in this book would have made it more winning to the layman.

"The modernist," says Mr. Dana, "turns from simulation to imagination. He strives to forget factories and churches, apples and potatoes, portraits and landscapes and portray only his own experiences." The modern artist does not use his imagination. His work is his imagination.

Such statements are understandable. One is happy to have found someone who can state so clearly what the modern artist is trying to do. The clarity undoubtedly comes from Mr. Dana's own thorough understanding for without that it would be impossible. It is, furthermore, comfortable to be given a name and definition for the future development of art, if it runs along in conformity with its present promise. Mr. Dana calls it "Pathognomy," which he says is the imaginative instinct, guided by the hand of emotive experience and allowed to flow out of the unconscious. "Pathognomy," he says, "is emotion as form."

Four Were Possessed, by Helena Frost, published by Robert W. McBride.

This is a first novel of good quality. It reveals that the author has originality and the ability to bring her characters to life. The pattern is modern. Five women were loved by Evan Von Brugge, an artist, a man portrayed as of some genius. Four of these women were summoned to tea by the fifth, Anna, a woman who had had something of Evan that none of the other women had had. These four women tell their stories. Each is well constructed—a novelette in itself.

The experience of each of them has been influenced by Anna and there emerges from the four stories an expanding portrait of Anna until she stands forth fully created at the end as a character to inspire reader enthusiasm. Anna is not present at the tea she never does arrive. Yet events move along just as she planned that they should. Linn, the last woman to tell her story, indicates Anna but by that time Anna has taken so firm a hold on the imagination of the reader that the indictment serves to expose Linn's own character. It is a notable piece of character delineation.

There is surprise at the end when the book ends only when it could be brought artistically to a conclusion.

The dedication of the book attracts one's attention to the author. It reads: "I am not prompted by any notion of duty, but only by my deep love and admiration, in inscribing this book to Katherine and Michael Fox because I have always valued them as extraordinary human beings rather than as parents, and I very much hope that they have loved me in spite of the fact that I am their daughter."

Journey to the End of the Night, by Louis-Ferdinand Celine, published by Little, Brown and Company.

This book caused so wide a split among critics in France that its title was heard around the world. It was not given the Prix Goncourt and the Academie Goncourt was nearly disrupted as a result. The author has been compared to Rabelais, Montaigne, Flaubert, Zola, Anatole France, Strindberg, Joyce, Hemingway.

There is a strong tone of naturalism to the book and that is unpleasant and yet there are other places in the book that are compensatingly beautiful. The story is of Bardamu, an under-dog. Bardamu is hurled into the war. We see him sitting at one of the street cafes in Paris talking with his friend about war in a starkly real tone. They agreed that it was hopeless and useless; that there was no glory. Yet impulsively Bardamu told his friends that he was going to go and see if it was really like that. Then follows his experiences in the war. In painfully real fashion he describes the devastating fear which he experienced.

It seems that there are as many different war experiences as there are people who write about them. Bardamu's sweetheart was disgusted with his lack of enthusiasm for the war, when he was invalided back to Paris. Probably some readers will feel that way. Yet Bardamu's attitude is too convincing to be ignored. It is a part of the war experience which we don't hear much about. Undoubtedly it is not every soldier's experience, but it is the experience of some and if readers are honest many of them will realize that it is probably the way they would feel if they passed through the strain which Bardamu describes.

There are portrait miniatures in which the author presents personalities so that his genius is apparent even to those who are prejudiced against the book by other portions.

It has humor and irony. Lola, a young girl, is a section one won't forget. She put on two pounds doing this duty so that in the end Bardamu says that she became as afraid of those apple fritters as he was afraid of the German bullets.

There is a noticeable drop in the book's quality after the war experience. And yet one almost retracts the statement when one recalls the beautiful story of Alcide.

Bardamu goes to the tropics, he comes to America, he returns to Paris where he becomes a doctor. He opens an office in one of the poorer sections. He remains an under-dog. As a doctor he hasn't the nerve to ask the poor people for his fees, although he desperately needs money.

The book deserves the stir it has created. Its unpleasantness should not be run away from for there are adequate compensations.

WILL ROGERS COMEDY COMES TO WALKER'S

A Will Rogers comedy and the story of a cocky American sailor who gets mixed up in the activities of the "smart set" will prove a combination that should be outstanding. Vic Walker, manager of Walker's State theater, said today in announcing the double feature program for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The Rogers picture is "Handy Andy." It tells the story of a druggist who wants nothing more than a chance to do his work as the neighborhood friend in peace, but whose socially ambitious wife, Peggy Wood, wants him to retire and be a "playboy." The efforts of Rogers to please his wife and the ensuing difficulties are causes for many a good laugh, according to those who have seen the film. His rough and tumble dance scene as Tarzan with Conchita Montenegro is said to be a highlight of the funniest. Mary Carlisle, the daughter, and Robert Taylor as her lover, add a romantic touch to the story.

The other feature, "Let's Talk It Over," presents Chester Morris as an overconfident sailor whose "brass" leads him to believe he is an intimate friend of a beautiful heiress and her society friends. Mae Clark is the heiress. Frank Craven is her uncle and Andy Devine is a prominent member of the supporting cast.

A special musical novelty by Abe Lyman's orchestra entitled "The Hot Harmony," provides a timely touch in keeping with Armistice day.

Modern Poets

By MISS BEULAH MAY

SARA BUNDY PENCE Mrs. Pence with her Quaker gray eyes writes from Los Angeles: "Perhaps the most significant fact of my life is that I had 'birthright membership' and was educated among Quakers. The simplicity, sincerity, even a hint of mysticism, in their lives I have endeavored to incorporate in a brochure of verse called 'Quaker Bonnets,' soon to come from the press. I have homesteaded, taught school, worked in offices and libraries and on a ranch. No wonder I dislike pretense and tear parties."

PROWLERS

Three shapes creep out at dead of night Through every house there be And gnaw their fingers in the dark In sad futility. Their nails they click upon the stones. Their hands drag on the wall: One is as low as creeping fog And one is cypress tall.

One, it is neither here nor there, But wavering as a sigh. They whisper, whisper—and are still— And one chokes back a cry.

Their gowns hang at their naked heels, Their cold knees shake and grind; They thrust grim elbows out before Yet turn and stare behind.

Or they may stand as hushed as snow, Without a tread or start. And wind their frosty fingers 'round The portals of a heart.

"Bundling," the quaint American custom practice in New England states in the Colonial days, is the subject of a new film comedy, "The Pursuit of Happiness," which opens a four-day engagement at the Broadway theater tomorrow.

The old practice of "bundling" was to permit marriageable daughters to entertain their swains "bundled" up together in the girl's feather bed. To conserve fuel, "bundling" was necessary rather than a convenience, but until its passing it drew up on the heads of colonists all the fire and brimstone sermons of which the early Puritans were capable.

The picture tells the story of Max Christian, a Hessian soldier, shanghaied into British service. Once in this land, he deserts, comes over to the side of the rebels and falls in love with the daughter of a colonist. His experiences with the quaint customs of the new nation form the film's comedy moments.

Joan Bennett, Francis Lederer, Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland are featured in the film. Selected short subjects which will be shown with the feature picture include a Todd and Kelly comedy, "One Horse Farmers," a color cartoon, "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp," a Grantland Rice Sportlife, "Keeping Time," and Register World News events.

WESTERN THRILLER ENDS RUN TONIGHT

BILL ROMANCE TWO FEATURES AND MELODRAMA AT BROADWAY AT WEST COAST ON THURSDAY

A gripping, melodramatic tale, set in the eerie confines of London's world-famous Chinatown, "Limehouse Blues," with George Raft, Anna May Wong and Jean Parker, comes to the screen of the West Coast theater Thursday with a second feature, "The Age of Innocence," said to be an emotional romance of extraordinary poignance and beauty, featuring Irene Dunne and John Boles.

"Limehouse Blues" is a tale of tangled threads of love and devotion, set against a background of smuggling, oriental luxury and strife between the underworld and police. Kent Taylor and Montague Love have prominent parts in the film.

"The Age of Innocence" is the film version of one of the real classics of American literature which was awarded the Pulitzer prize in 1920. The drama reaches its height when two lovers are forced to choose between their own happiness and the stilted standards of the early days. Julie Hayden, Lionel Atwill, Helen Westley, Laura Hope Crews, Herbert Yost and others have important roles.

The program of short subjects will include a cartoon, "Snappy's Expedition," and World News.

DOUBLE FEATURE PROGRAM CLOSES

Gay and youthful romance fills the picture, "Love Time," featuring Pat Peterson and Nils Asther, which plays for the last times at the West Coast theater tonight along with a second feature, "You Belong to Me," starring Lee Tracy.

"Love Time" deals with the youth of the famous composer, Franz Schubert, and the first great love of his life. Many of Schubert's immortal compositions are woven into the story. Herbert Mundin, Harry Green, Lucien Littlefield, Georgia Caine, Roger Imhof, Henry B. Walthall, Henry Kolker, Albert Conti and Earle Fox have important roles. Helen Mack, Helen Morgan and David Jack Holt, brilliant five-year-old actor, support Lee Tracy in "You Belong to Me," a human and appealing story of some of life's "second raters."

JOE E. BROWN FILM ENDS AT BROADWAY

Joe E. Brown's latest and funniest comedy, "Six-Day Bike Rider," shows for the last times at the Broadway theater tonight. Joe, as the village wise cracker and local Don Juan, gets himself into the most ridiculous situations imaginable in the picture because of his continual bragging. Forced to make good on one brag, he becomes a bicycle racer, with hilarious results.

A talented cast of comedy players are in the important roles, including Frank McHugh, Maxine Doyle and Gordon Westcott.

Selected short subjects include the latest Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Mickey Mouse Plays Papa," a news cameraman adventure, "On Foreign Service," a novelty, "The Spectacle Maker," and Register World News events.

Two features, of such contrasting nature that entertainment for all is assured, will open at the Broadway theater Thursday for an engagement of three days. It was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The first feature is Zane Grey's "Wagon Wheels," one of the most stirring epic adventures in the conquest of the West, featuring Randolph Scott, Gall Patrick, Monte Blue and Raymond Hatton. The picture is a stirring account of the famous trip made by the covered wagon caravan from Independence, Mo., to Oregon in 1844 when the sturdy, adventurous American pioneer first went out to homestead the new country.

Natural scenery of the Rockies and the forest background made beautiful scenes for "Wagon Wheels," which tells the story of the battles between the pioneers and Indians en route to the promised land. Comedy and romance spice the picture.

"Hell in the Heavens," featuring Warner Baxter, Conchita Montenegro, Russell Hardie, Herbert Mundin, Andy Devine, William Sterling, Ralph Morgan, Vince Barnett, J. Carrol Naish and Johnny Arthur, is described as a thrilling and spectacular story of desperate war in the air. It tells the story of daring men not afraid of death but afraid of fear; desperate for life, yet each day braving destruction in the skies.

Short subjects include a Terytown cartoon, "Hot Sands," a novelty, "Hollywood Gadabout," and World News.

"THE COUNT OF MONTE CRISTO" AT WEST COAST

"The Count of Monte Cristo," million dollar production of the Alexandre Dumas novel which has thrilled millions of readers in every civilized country of the world, comes to the screen of the West Coast theater for a four-day engagement tomorrow.

Produced on a lavish scale, with a score of principals and hundreds of supporting players, it offers Robert Donat, handsome English actor, in his first American made film. Elissa Landi appears opposite him.

Louis Calhern, Sidney Blackmer, O. P. Heggie, Irene Harvey, William Farnum and Raymond Walburn head the imposing supporting cast which includes Georgia Caine, Lawrence Grant, Luis Alberni, Douglas Walton, Juliette Compton, Eleanor Phelps, Holmes Herbert and others.

The story tells how the Count of Monte Cristo obtains revenge on his enemies, who have him cast in a prison where he languishes for years, how he escapes and his ensuing adventures, in which he obtains treasure worth millions of dollars, and how he regains his lost love and happiness.

Short subjects on the bill include a color cartoon, "Little Dutch Mill," a musical with Freddy Rich and his band, with Vera Van and the Eaton Boys, and World News.

ARMISTICE DAY 1918 1934

In earnest tribute to the memory of America's soldiers, living and dead, who by their sacrifice awakened a nation's consciousness to the wasting futility of war and kindled a lasting devotion to the cause of peace . . . in this spirit we dedicate ourselves to the cause of Armistice Day.

Household Economics Lunches at Clubhouse

The plan of serving monthly covered dish luncheons which has been introduced this year by Ebells Fourth Household Economics section, seems to meet with general approval of section members, who yesterday enjoyed the November affair for which the menu was supervised by Mrs. S. J. Hales, Mrs. W. L. Duggan and Miss Livley Carter.

When invited to the section rooms for the luncheon hour, the clubwomen made their selection from appetizing dishes ranged on a buffet table spread with Chinese embroidery and centered with flowers. Small tables at which they were seated in friendly foursomes, likewise boasted of pretty linens and low bowls of golden chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Alfred H. Thordike as leader, conducted the afternoon session asking her secretary, Mrs. W. W. Kays to present the speaker, Miss Helen Gallagher of the Work Basket, whose theme was needlecraft.

Speaking of the constantly mounting interest among women in all forms of needlecraft, Miss Gallagher told of the simplified methods of doing some of the special work, showing among other things, convenient frames for making the popular "waffle" patterns of hot dish mats, and the modern apparatus for making hairpin lace. She showed examples of weaving, knitting, embroidery and petit point, and answered questions propounded by the interested clubwomen.

The question of the December meeting was brought up and it was announced that members would respond to roll call with gifts of food for distribution among the needy. There will be the customary gift exchange and a Yuletide program following the 1 o'clock luncheon with Mesdames Walter Hickey, Lena G. Hewitt and S. A. Jones as hostesses.

Mrs. Jones was accorded welcome as it was her first meeting since recent return from a summer trip to the east coast with visits in New York City, points in Ohio, Minnesota and various other states on her homeward way.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL
EAT AND GROW SLIM
Sunday Night Supper
Crab Ring Mould
Split toasted muffins
Fruit Macedoine
Cookies
Coffee or tea
Calory total for diet meal .559

Usually one eats two meals on Sunday, so let breakfast be chiefly coffee if dinner, then supper is the order in the household. And remember what I told you a few days ago about eating something of every thing but not much of anything.

Get those big round muffins for the toast, split them in three slices and butter very lightly. Fruit macedoine is a duke's mixture of every canned fruit you've got, minus most of its juices. Chill it very thoroughly and serve in large sherbet cups. The cookies may be anything from store cookies to your best effort in that direction. Now for the salad:

2 tbsps. (1 envelope) gelatine
1 can tomato soup
1 cup shredded celery heart
1 cup chopped green pepper
2 cups buttermilk mayonnaise
2 cups cottage cheese
1 pound crab meat
Soak gelatine in cold water, add to heated soup and stir until dissolved. When slightly jelled stir in the shredded vegetables, the mayonnaise and cheese, and pour into a ring mould. Chill until well set, then unmould on a bed of lettuce and fill the center with the crab, masked with mayonnaise.

For small parties this salad is very grand when moulded in individual ring moulds.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Italian Casserole
2 packages egg noodles (broad)
4 Tbsps. oil or bacon fat
2 large onions, sliced
1 small can tomatoes (No. 2)
1 small can corn
1 can ripe olives
1 cup grated cheese
1 pound ground hamburger steak or
3-3 cup chopped cooked meat
Good pinch of rosemary
Salt and pepper
Garlic salt.

Cook noodles, rinse and drain. Fry meat and onions in fat, season highly. Combine noodles, fried meat and the canned vegetables and olives. Mix well, taste and if not peppery enough, add what it takes to make it so. Bake in a wide shallow pan, the top sprinkled with cheese. Time, 30 minutes.

I have yet to see the time when this dish will last out the meal. . . it's what the boys call "one swell dish."

After consuming food like the Italian Casserole your mind will be turning to thoughts of how nice it would be if you could have your cake and eat it, too. Well, you can, to a fair degree.

You can be slim, alert and young in figure by adherence to certain easy diet rules set forth in the diet offered free through this service. Just ask for the Safe and Sane Reducing diet when you want it, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope. Along with the diet you will need a good calory list, and that will be sent in the same envelope with the diet, too, but this one has a string to it. You've got to make a trade, a recipe for the calory list.

An revol until Monday.
ANN MEREDITH.

Beauceant Members and Knights Meet for Dinner Program

This week's meetings of Knights Templar and Social Order of Beauceant, in chapter rooms of Masonic temple, had a pleasant prelude in the form of a covered dish dinner shared by the two organizations, and an equally enjoyable postlude in the entertainment program given under direction of Walter Wright and his committee.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME

TWO APRONS AS CHIC AS THEY WILL BE USEFUL

PATTERN 2060

BY ANNE ADAMS

The housewife who takes pride in her kitchen usually takes great interest in a good supply of chic aprons and where could you find two lovelier models than those shown today. Both are included in the one pattern and both have fashionable half-belted waistline. The upper design gives fine opportunity for using rick-rack braid to set off the lines of its smart V neck and spacious pockets. The lower sketch boasts a youthfully rounded neckline and jaunty cap-like shoulders, and would be as pretty as can be made up in a dainty dotted Swiss, edged with embroidery.

Pattern 2060 is available in sizes small, medium and large. Medium size, each apron takes 1 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

JAPANESE TO TAKE PART IN CHURCH FRIENDSHIP MEET

Another interesting session of the School of World Friendship is scheduled at the First Baptist church Sunday evening. It was stated, starting the series of three sessions that will make up the final half of the school "term."

During these three sessions, the meeting at 8:15 p. m. will be taught by Dean McKee Fisk, of Santa Ana Junior college. The text book, "Susuki Looka at Japan" is the starting point for these lectures, but Dean Fisk is expected to bring the meeting much of his own intimate knowledge of the Orient, and his special interest in the Kingdom of God movement in Japan, said an announcement.

The special event at 6 o'clock takes the form of a brief play, this week. The title is "The God in Your Home," and the cast includes Mrs. Fannie Reeves as Mrs. Clarkson, an American woman; Miss Laura Joiner as Ethel Clarkson, her daughter; Mrs. Leslie Steffenson as Susuka San, a little Japanese college girl, nicknamed Cherry Blossom.

At 7 o'clock the meeting will be entertained by the Rev. C. H. Ross, of Gardena, with several Japanese from the Japanese church there. The Rev. Mr. Ross will give some intimate details about teaching Japanese to be Christian. The Japanese people he brings with him will assist him in the service.

The announcement contained an invitation to all who are interested in Orientals in America to attend the service.

Humorous Play To Be Presented At Church Monday

A special Armistice Day program is planned next Monday evening at the First Christian church Educational building. It was announced today by Frank Pierce, in charge of educational work.

The Pilgrim Players, well known to local audiences, will give a return performance of the three-act comedy, "These Wives of Ours." The program starts at 7:30 p. m.

"This play is well presented," said Pierce, "and provides many laughs at the humorous situation which arises between the husband, who is an artist, and his wife, who is always a little over-anxious about her diet. Director Brunell plays the part of the husband, Mrs. Brunell that of the wife. There are four other characters."

Presentation of the play on Monday, said Pierce, would enable many to attend who otherwise would be unable to see it. A silver offering will be taken at the door.

Come to Church

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

JONAH AND THE WHALE

Commanded by the Lord to prophesy against Nineveh, Jonah attempted to escape from this commission by flight to Tarshish. He went to Joppa and found a ship going to Tarshish. A furious storm arose and the sailors after their attempts to lighten the ship proved vain, questioned Jonah. "And he said unto them, I am a Hebrew; and I fear the Lord, the God of heaven, which hath made the sea and dry land. Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said unto him, What shall we do unto thee, that the sea may be calm unto us? And he said unto them, take me up, and cast me forth into the sea; so shall the sea be calm unto thee; for I know that for my sake this great tempest is upon you."—Jonah 1: 9-12. "So they took up Jonah, and cast him forth into the sea; and the sea ceased from her raging. Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights."—Jonah 1: 15-17. Jonah then prayed earnestly to the Lord. "And the Lord spake unto the fish, and it vomited out Jonah upon the dry land."—Jonah 2: 10. This illustration is from Merian's story of the Bible in pictures, engraved in 1625.

MEN OF PURPOSE
Years ago men said "The aeroplane will not fly." "The radio is absurd." And our grandfathers said "The auto is a fad."

Right now men say "I can't get a job." "No money can be made." Here are some facts in our business. In every point in Southern California men are making more money with us than they ever made in their lives before. Here are a few of their earnings for last week's work:

In Los Angeles, Jean Crosser earned $21.35; D. C. Griffith, $27.50; Joe Schull, $36.45; P. C. Finley, $18.00; and others had earnings from $19.00 to $31.00. J. Van Horn, Bakersfield, earned $18.35; Frank Guver, San Diego, $18.45; Frank Tiesler, Riverside, $38.45; Phil Harvey, Ontario, $22.25; O. O. Creamer, San Diego, $34.40; Burt Cunningham, Long Beach, $70.77; Jack Wigel, Taft, $39.00; E. E. Sigle, Redondo Beach, $31. Last Monday 8 new men and 10 older men had earnings from $19.00 to $34.00 for the day.

Our men make money, believe it or not. New inventions have increased their earnings tremendously. Our books are open. We have nothing to sell you. Nothing to buy. We are not interested in you. We need no sales ability. We give you our equipment, which is new, and help you to sell it. We rate high in our field.

For investigation and personal interview see D. C. Griffith, our Santa Ana Manager at 10 a. m. Monday, (no other time), at 329 Spurgeon Bldg.

MEN OF PURPOSE
Years ago men said "The aeroplane will not fly." "The radio is absurd." And our grandfathers said "The auto is a fad."

Right now men say "I can't get a job." "No money can be made." Here are some facts in our business. In every point in Southern California men are making more money with us than they ever made in their lives before. Here are a few of their earnings for last week's work:

In Los Angeles, Jean Crosser earned $21.35; D. C. Griffith, $27.50; Joe Schull, $36.45; P. C. Finley, $18.00; and others had earnings from $19.00 to $31.00. J. Van Horn, Bakersfield, earned $18.35; Frank Guver, San Diego, $18.45; Frank Tiesler, Riverside, $38.45; Phil Harvey, Ontario, $22.25; O. O. Creamer, San Diego, $34.40; Burt Cunningham, Long Beach, $70.77; Jack Wigel, Taft, $39.00; E. E. Sigle, Redondo Beach, $31. Last Monday 8 new men and 10 older men had earnings from $19.00 to $34.00 for the day.

Our men make money, believe it or not. New inventions have increased their earnings tremendously. Our books are open. We have nothing to sell you. Nothing to buy. We are not interested in you. We need no sales ability. We give you our equipment, which is new, and help you to sell it. We rate high in our field.

WAR IN THREE DIMENSIONS

When Stanley Baldwin, a month ago, made the statement that Britain's frontier was the Rhine, he meant to imply that national defense made a large air force imperative for Britain.

Military strategists in other countries immediately were moved to say that, while an air fleet of large numbers might be necessary in modern warfare, it would under no circumstances make land and sea armaments any the less necessary. They took occasion to remark that air forces could never take possession of foreign territory. They could harass an enemy country by bombing cities from the air; but to make a military expedition effective, a well-trained army would be still imperative.

These varied emphases upon the character of national defense are evidence of the increasing costliness, not only of war, but of military preparedness. In the earlier centuries, the fighting for a country was mostly done by a professional soldiery. A conflict between nations could go on more or less sporadically for a great many years. Such were the Thirty Years' war and the Hundred Years' war.

In those long-drawn-out wars, these professional soldiers ranged over large stretches of territory; and, unless they happened to pass through certain regions, the people of the country round about knew very little of a war going on. They continued their daily chores almost unmindful of it.

Modern warfare has changed all that. The whole population is drawn into war activities today, as those who lived during the 18 months the United States engaged in the World War well remember. Men, women and even children were enlisted in some form of war work. All industries other than war industries were classed as non-essential. The whole economic life of the country, as well as the man power, was drafted for the conflict.

There was a time when men said that the more terrible and the more costly war became, the less the probability of war. But that idea has been exploded. We know that a nation fighting for its life can fight on for years, because the longer the defense, the weaker becomes the aggressor. It has been stated that it takes three men in the aggregate force to overcome one man in the defensive forces.

More and more these factors will make the leaders of a nation cautious about any measure or policy that will provoke a war. But war-making is not deliberate except by munition manufacturers. A war always comes unexpectedly when it finally does come. It takes only a seemingly trivial or inconsequential act, like the firing upon Fort Sumter, the shooting of an archduke at Sarajevo, or something of a similar nature, to bring about the war terror.

The more necessary, therefore, that the jingo and the militarist shall always be discounted in a time of peace. And more particularly now with the known fact that the munition men may be behind them. It is they who provoke wars. We can understand the honest man's cry for national defense. But there is little need in any country for the rabid patrioters who make saber-rattling a daily business. Not the pacifist, but the rabid militarist, is the man most to be feared.

FOOTBALL DOES A LOT FOR THESE COLLEGE BOYS

Parents will note with some concern the misfortune which befell Charles "Red" Ledbetter. He is Bobby Grayson's understudy on the Stanford football team. After three days absence from football practice and classes, he was finally missed by the coach and the assistant coach, who went to look him up, found him lying helpless, alone, suffering from a brain concussion. Since he was dazed and weak it was thought that he had probably been lying there in his room alone during the three days. Two weeks ago, it was recalled he was kicked in the head but apparently had recovered.

After all football is more than rah! rah! Now it is perfectly clear that it is a very fine thing that he was a member of the football team and they needed him in practice, because if they hadn't needed him he might never have been discovered. Evidently his teachers, or his boarding house people, or the people where he roomed nor anyone else had done anything about it. But he was needed to play scrub against the varsity, and his condition was discovered.

Boys, we would advise you to join the football team. While you may get concussion of the brain and be neglected for a few days, finally they'll need you. And the better player you are the sooner they'll need you. They could get along without this boy for three days. Other connection interests could get along without him forever.

When we went to college no one could be absent from a meal without enquiry and no one could be absent from two classes without an investigation. We wonder if this boy had any classes. Let us give credit where credit is due. It was the football coach, not one of his teachers, who found him.

CONTRADICTION STATISTICS

Those whose business it is to gather business statistics and study them, must often be impressed with the contradictory character of them. From all parts of the country reports come of the flourishing conditions of the retail trade. In August last, the retail trade of the country was the highest since May, 1932. People generally are spending more money.

Yet over against these encouraging facts are the dismal statistics of business recovery in the heavy industries. During the summer months, and until a few weeks ago, the business index went steadily downward. And even now it is running along a horizontal line.

There is purchasing power coming from somewhere. It is not all the result of government spending, for much of the money allocated for government projects has not yet been spent. And we know that the savings of the people out of work have long since been exhausted.

These facts seem to indicate that the business index is not always a fair standard by which to measure recovery. There are other factors that enter in which cannot be tabulated. There is the matter of credit. That may have enlarged the purchasing power. It takes something more than the stock of currency to make purchasing power. There was no more actual money in the boom period than now. It was credit that made purchasing power.

When the president asked the people of the country to examine their own condition and to say if they were not better off than on March 4, 1933, he was thinking, not of the business index, but just this thing of increased purchasing power.

So long as that is going strong, and is increasing, it is very certain that the business index must catch up with the increasing purchasing power. It is purchasing power that stimulates industry, not industry that stimulates purchasing power. Many believe the opposite to be true.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

Not for many years, outside our own state, have campaign expenses been less than they have been this year. Neither of the two parties have had large campaign chests. No mid-term election since President Harding's time has involved less expenditure. In the Harding mid-term election, over three million dollars were spent. In the election this year, not nearly half that amount has been spent.

The Republican leaders have not been able to tap the accustomed sources. Big business and big banking have not had so much to give. And even if they had, it is a question whether it would have been good strategy to give it to the party out of power, and hopelessly out of power. The party in power, by reason of its control and its patronage, has the better opportunity to build up its war chest.

There are those who have expressed the hope that the day of lavish campaign expenditures is in the past. It is to be hoped that such is the fact. Large campaign expenditures always make for political corruption.

They not only corrupt the electorate, but they are bound to eventuate in more or less official corruption. They who give largely for a campaign expect something in return.

It may be jobs, or public favors like tariff laws, or laws that do not hamper speculative promotions, or even laws that fail to give workers and their children the necessary protection against the rapacity of those who are greedy for large profits. With the extremely rich, these favors are given in reducing income taxes.

A GALLANT

We have d' Artagnans and Cyranos with us yet. Here is the story of a young chap who was run into and knocked down by a woman driver in Brentwood Heights yesterday. The woman driver of the car asked him whether he was hurt. As becomes a gallant he responded: "Hurt? Why, my dear lady, even my feelings aren't hurt." After that he threw his arms around her and kissed her. That last wasn't in the grand manner, for he should have kissed her hand, but at that he may have been a little dazed.

Peace—For a Special Fee

San Francisco Chronicle

Curious seems to be the picked out of the London Times "agony column." Along with "Mrs. Chicken and son thank all friends for kind inquiries and floral tributes during her late husband's illness," and Lady Sybil Lubbock's notice that she wants to rent the Villa Medici at Florence furnished, one finds this:

Ancient churchyard, beautiful country, near London. Burial of a few nonparishioners at special fees. Write Box R1303, The Times.

Here may be something more than a picture of a thrifty parson and church warden looking out for an honest penny in dull times. Perhaps this offer represents a complementary demand. Perhaps there are souls weary with a lifetime of strife amongst dinky brick and stone that long to rest finally far from the maddening throng and look out for narrow beds beneath those rugged elms, that yew tree's shade.

It is not every English churchyard that is kept open to others than its own. But here is one, and here, for a "special fee," one may lie amongst the mute inglorious Miltons where heaves the turf in many a mouldering heap. The thought of peace in a quiet countryside held forth by this invitation is not unattractive. The calm of that churchyard may be worth the "special fee."

Written Off

The San Diego Union

Many a hard-headed business economist has insisted that a business enterprise or an industry cannot hope to climb out of depression until it has written off its major liabilities, until it has "pocketed" its losses, wiped off the slate and has started again from scratch. Without attempting to minimize the extent of the defeat of the Republican party suffered at the polls last Tuesday we submit that this is exactly what has happened in politics—to this one party. The G. O. P. was forced to write off its oldest liabilities. The opposition party retained many of its liabilities—and acquired a few new ones, such as Senator-elect Guffey of Pennsylvania or "Boss" Pendergast's man, Truman, in Missouri.

The failure of senators like Fess and Robinson, and even Reed of Pennsylvania, was a Republican defeat. But it was no loss to the party. It cleared the path for party leaders who can answer Democratic programs with something more effective than "It won't work" and "No."

STICK STAMPER TYRANNUS

When a prospector locates a gold mine,
Or the veterans pick out a camp,
When men blaze a new trail
Up a wild western dale,
Jim Farley is there with a stamp.
When a clump of big trees is discovered
In a hitherto little known park
And Jim finds it out
He goes bustling about
To print a new stamp—that's his mark.

You may always depend on the postman
When he calls with his pouch at your gate
To bring one fresh, damp
And astonishing stamp.
In some cases seven or eight.
If you happen to meet with a bison
In a Montana park some fine morn—
And climb up a tree—
You'll discover that he
Has a nice sticky stamp on his horn.

If your state has not yet been awarded
A stamp it can paste on its mail,
The big P. M. G.
You shortly will see
Embarked like a hound on its trail.
Up to date he has ordered so many
That he almost has got writer's cramp,
And he'll not be content
Till that lanky old gent,
Uncle Sam, is dressed up in a stamp.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

A NOTE ON LEADERSHIP

We are in a phase of idolatry of strong men.

We are everywhere on the lookout for leaders. When, as in Italy or in Germany, a man of assumed or actual strength takes the reins, we call him The Leader.

I have myself written so much about the central significance of great leadership in this complex and baffling age that I have no desire to speak slightly of this epidemic concern with leadership.

We need great and strong leaders.

But there is an aspect of leadership that is strangely overlooked in the democracies of the Western world. I should like to speak of this overlooked aspect today.

The one point at which no public leadership seems to direct serious attention is effective leadership of the thinking of the men whose hands are actually on the levers of power in the basic enterprises of the nation.

Many of these men have blundered terribly in the last two decades. Business men have blundered. Industrialists have blundered. But, unless we are to go bag and baggage over to a completely state-run economic order, the business men, the bankers and the industrialists are the men who will continue to operate the mechanisms of our national enterprise. In the end, what we achieve of social benefit for the masses we must achieve through them. The relation between public leadership and these men becomes, therefore, of supreme importance.

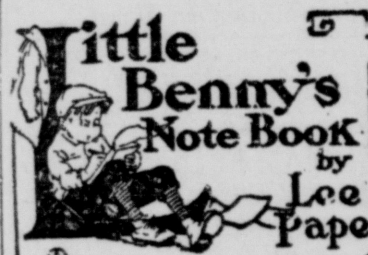

Reactionary leadership has nothing to offer. It is bankrupt in the presence of the bewildering economic stalemate that has held our enterprise in paralysis. Reformist leadership, on the other hand, all too often cuts itself off from effective influence with this managerial genius of the country by its attitude of evangelistic moralizing that begins by blanketing the whole field of economic leadership with a suspicion of anti-social purpose.

Business, industry and finance have their crooks. There are plenty of jails for crooks. And the jailing of them does not necessitate the whipping up of an uncritical mass suspicion of the whole field of economic leadership.

The root difficulty is in our conception of leadership. We think of leadership as leading the country. Leaders become exclusively concerned with a vast something called mass opinion. And they seek to manipulate this opinion. But that is not leadership. That is wire-pulling. Real leadership is leadership of the various functional groups that are really operating the day to day life of the country. It is not the pitting of some of these groups against other of these groups. It is giving leadership to the business men, helping them to pitch their policies on a higher level of practical operation. It is giving leadership to labor, helping it to adjust its organization and technique to the new issues. And so on.

We must get away from the idea of the great leader as a man who plays both ends against the middle, patting labor on the back today and business on the back tomorrow, and acting as a kind of broker of their deal and battles.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
25 Years Ago Today

NOVEMBER 10, 1909

The annual meeting of stockholders in the Santiago Orange Growers' association was in progress in the packing plant in Orange.

For the first time in the history of Orange county, a recognized Santa Ana river channel was being established between the junction with Santiago creek and tidewater, and work was under way to put the channel in condition to take care of any flood waters that might come. Property owners along the course were co-operating with the committee, O. H. Coulter, D. H. Dunkin and C. F. Heil.

Possibility of a new two-story annex to First M. E. church was discussed at a meeting of the Sunday school board, when needs of primary and junior departments were set forth. The matter was to be presented to the official board of the church with request that the addition be placed on the north side of the building.

A LITTLE DAUGHTER

The teacher and parent who has the power to laugh with children have a wonderful force on their side. Children love laughter. They indulge in it with or without cause. They will find excuses for laughing, reason for it, where neither excuse nor reason appears. They need to laugh.

We older folk are likely to consider the problem of children too seriously. If they make silly mistakes we weep instead of laugh. If they tell us a funny story and make mistakes in grammar, we are sad and we correct the error and forget all about the joke. There is no joke for us in bad grammar. If they come into the room in fantastic array expecting our applause and laughter, we see only that they have taken some precious possessions or other and misused it. There is no laughter for us in the misuse of property.

But we ought to be able to laugh with children. If we are not we cannot help to do much with them or go far with them. They will seek merrier company. Life has saddened us but children are in the world to renew life and keep it from saddening us. If we could but keep a sense of proportion about all these little difficulties our own lives would be merrier and our children's lives much more successful.

"I don't like to be in Miss Sophie's class. Nobody has ever seen her laugh yet. This morning she shade etuck and I was trying to get it to run again and Benjie steps up and says, 'Let ME fix it. I bet I can fix it in a jiffy. While you're thinking about it.'"

"He grabbed the thing out of my hands, and what he did with it I don't know but it flew to the ceiling and came down and smacked him squarely on the head. Did we laugh? Benjie most of all. But Miss Sophie got black as thunder in the face and she says, 'You stay in after school, the whole class. The idea of laughing at an accident.' An accident, mind you, and Benjie laughing his head off. Gosh, I wish she could learn to laugh once in a while."

Of course Benjie might have been hurt some. But he wasn't. A window shade couldn't do him much harm. A laugh did the class a lot of good. It brought them nearer to each other. They liked each other the better. Had Miss Sophie been at all clever about her business she would have made some smiling remark to Benjie and joined in the laughter. Little children like to make their mothers laugh. They bring their funny stories, they do their little tricks in the hope of seeing their mothers' faces break into smiles, to hear them chuckling and laughing. Laughter is the signal of good feeling and of well being. It stimulates them and at the same time gives them a feeling of security. That feeling of security is precious to all children.

After all there is always time for laughter. Life is not such a serious matter as we would make it appear. Our part in it is so little when all is said and done. We stay for so short a time and we influence so small a share of the universal problems why not take time out for a little laughter?

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing a three-cent stamped addressed envelope for reply.)
